Professional Background

Attorney Ni Weichen is a partner at the Shanghai office of Hylands Law Firm, possessing a diverse background in both corporate and legal practice. Prior to joining Hylands Law Firm, Attorney Ni worked in the legal department of a state-owned enterprise listed on the A-share market and as a dedicated attorney at a renowned law firm. At Hylands Law Firm's Shanghai office, he focuses on civil and commercial dispute resolution, particularly complex commercial cases in company law, financial law, and corporate compliance. He excels at combining business logic with various dispute resolution methods to protect clients' interests.

Attorney Ni has provided legal services to dozens of enterprises and institutions, including foreign-invested companies, investment institutions, and listed companies across sectors such as hospitality, real estate, finance, manufacturing, innovative technology, and construction, receiving high praise from clients.

In addition to his legal practice, Attorney Ni is also dedicated to research. He has participated in the research, drafting, and revision of several significant documents, including the "Shanghai State-owned Assets Supervision and Administration Commission Guidelines on Enterprise Dispute Settlement and Mediation," "Shanghai Lawyers Mediation Work Research Report," and rules for commercial mediation organizations, all of which have received unanimous acclaim from relevant departments and units.
